COMPANY PROFILE

About Us

Our history

Founded in the early 20th century, Parisini Pelletterie is a proud custodian of a long-standing Italian leather-making tradition. The company's origins date back to when a young Otello Parisini began his apprenticeship as a saddler in Bologna, honing his skills particularly in the intricate craft of horse harness making.

With the end of the First World War, Otello decided to embark on his own entrepreneurial journey, establishing a small workshop and founding Parisini Pelletterie. His production evolved to meet the needs of the changing times: initially focused on handcrafted suitcases and travel bags made from fine English leather, the company expanded in the 1930s to include professional bags and belts.
